

ENGINEER HOLLOWAY

Meets Death in Head End Collision on Montgomery Division

WAS WELL KNOWN AT THIS PLACE

A Special from Fort Deposit, Ala., dated May 14 says: Through Freight No. 18 on the Louisville and Nashville Road between Mobile and Montgomery collided head on with a work train four miles north of here, and one mile south of Calhoun at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Ten cars and the two engines went down the embankment. Jack C. Holloway of Montgomery, engineer of No. 18, was killed, while a negro grocer named Williams was seriously injured. It is also rumored that an unknown hobo was killed in the collision. The cause of the collision is not stated.

The cars, when derailed, took fire from the engines, and within a few minutes a string of ten cars was a seething mass of flames. Some of the cars which went off the track were filled with rosin and the fire feeding on this caused a blaze that defied all efforts to extinguish.

Engineer Holloway is well known in Earlington having resided here for a number of years in the employment of the L. & N. His home was in Henderson and the remains were shipped to Henderson Thursday for burial. Rev. Brandon pastor of the Methodist church of this place was notified to accompany the remains to Henderson and preach the funeral. The many friends of the family offer sympathy in this hour of trouble.

J. W. Jordon, a well known dentist of Hopkinsville, Ky., recently had an operation for his kidney trouble, but he says: "The first real relief I got was after taking Foley Kidney Pills. They eased the terrible pain in my back and accomplished more good than anything I had tried. I gladly recommend them." Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co. Incorporated Drug Department.

MINERS' STRIKE COSTS ABOUT $12,000,000 IN WAGES ALONE

Total Loss in All Quarters Cannot Well Be Estimated

Philadelphia--To and including Saturday the anthracite mines have been idle for 36 working days. As there are 178,000 anthracite employees of whom all but a negligible few are idle, the suspension thus far represents the direct loss of more than 6,000,000 days labor. The loss in wages has probably been in excess of $12,000,000. Based on last year's production, the loss in coal mined, between April 1 and May 11, has been about 8,000,000 tons. Allowing the 1910 value at the mine of $1.90 per ton (the latest obtainable average figure), this coal represents a money loss of more than $14,000,000. Thus the combined loss in wages and coal production thus far has exceeded $26,000,000.

The real total losses, in all quarters, resulting from the anthracite suspension, of course, have been much larger than this sum. In fact, they would probably foot up to this amount multiplied a good many times. The losses in anthracite freights alone would equal the value of the coal at the mine. There has been a heavy loss in the wages of railroad men who have been laid off on account of the cessation of the anthracite traffic. The retail coal trade is losing a large volume of business, and the losses extend in many other directions before their effects disappear.

In this connection it is of interest to note that United States Consul General Griffiths, at London, has compiled a number of estimates of the losses in the British coal strike. The estimates run from $72,997,500 to $243,325,000. Mr. Griffiths is inclined to think that the London Daily Mirror's estimate of $122,635,800 is probably not excessive when the almost unlimited ramifications of the effects of the strike are taken into consideration. The Mirror's estimate takes no consideration of the increased cost of living during the strike. Making allowance for this, Mr. Griffiths believes the London Daily Telegraph's estimate of $243,325,000 may not be too large. The loss of working days to the coal miners was about $25,000,000.

Fire Alarm System General Information

The city of Earlington has been divided into four Fire Districts, known as numbers one, two, three and four. These districts are formed by the two natural physical dividing lines,--viz. Main Street and the L. & N. R. R.

Fire District No. 1 comprises all that territory North of Main St., and West of the R. R., e. g. the City Hall, Round House, F. B. Arnold's residence, Pump House, etc. etc., are in District No. 1.

Fire District 2, comprises all that territory North of Main St., and East of the R. R. (e. g. the St. Bernard Store, Barnes, Coward & Co., P. H. Whalens residence, Masonic Temple, "Logtown" etc. etc., are in District No. 2.

Fire District 3, comprises all that territory South of Main St., and West of the R. R. (e. g. the Post Office, Goodloe's restaurant, Chas. Cowell's residence, Mrs. Harriet Browning's residence, Esq. Jas. Priest's residence, etc. etc., are in District No. 3.

Fire District 4, comprises all that territory South of Main St., and East of the R. R. (e. g. the Peoples Bank, Victory Building, C. M. Henry's residence, Catholic Church, New Methodist Church, etc. etc., are in District No. 4.

Each telephone subscriber in these Districts has been furnished with a card showing the number of Fire District in which each phone is situated,--these cards directing that, in case of fire, Central Telephone Exchange be informed of District Number and name of house "on fire." The Central operator will in turn notify L. & N. Round House, which will give the alarm.

The Round House whistle will in the future give the official alarm, and this alarm consist of a series of short blasts followed by one, two, three or four long ones, according to the district in which fire is located,--these long blasts indicating the district. This alarm will be repeated as seems necessary. The L. & N. locomotives will not give the alarm unless an engineer or trainmen should first discover a fire (i. e. should see it before the regular alarm had been given)--or, in the event the regular Round House alarm should fail to arouse the fire Department at night.

The Demons of The Swamp

are mosquitos. As they sting they put deadly malaria germs in the blood. Then follow the icy chills and the fires of fever. The appetite fails and the strength falls; also malaria often paves the way to deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters kill and gas out the malaria germs from the blood; give you a pure appetite and renew your strength. "After long suffering," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. Cheerfulness

Learn to laugh. A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well-told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick-room. Learn to keep your troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows.

Learn to stop croaking. If you can not see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your pains and aches under pleasant smiles. No one cares to hear whether you have the earache, headache or rheumatism.

Don't cry, tears do well enough in novels, but are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. A good-humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and is an nuisance as well.

Emmett Logan Dies at Baltimore

Baltimore, Md., May 15.—Col. Emmet C. Logan, of Warren county Ky., died here in the Johns Hopkins hospital at 5 o'clock tonight of apoplexy. He came here on May 5 from Washington, where he had been since January, having come East for treatment of affection of the ear. He was operated on here several days ago and was said to be doing nicely. He was heard to fall in his room tonight and was found apparently dead on the floor. All efforts to revive him failed.

He was born in Shelby county on October 3, 1848. For many years he was editor of the Louisville Times. He gave up newspaper work on account of his health and retired to his farm near Bowling Green.

Mrs. R. Brant, 1115 Paden St., Parkersburg, W. Va., had an attack of lagripes which left her bad kidney trouble, and she suffered much severe pain and backache. Then she heard of Foley Kidney Pills and says: "After taking them a short time the pain left my back and I am again able to do my own housework. Foley Kidney Pills helped me wonderfully." Personal Inspection Frankfort, Ky., May 15.—Inspection in person of every mile of railroad in Kentucky will be made by the railroad commission before the tangible property of the railroads is assessed.

This was decided by the members of the commission, and the inspection will begin May 16, when the commission will go to Prestonsburg to investigate a complaint about depot facilities there. The members of the commission will view the fitting landscape from the back end of a train, paying special attention to track and depot facilities, so that it will be able to arrive at a correct conclusion regarding the actual value of the property.

The Poultry Yard

Too much corn meal is not good for young chicks.

Apoplexy and eggbound are the result of excessive fat.

Milk in any form is both meat and drink to laying hens.

No one kind of grain will give as good results as a variety.

Get seed of the nest egg gourd and grow your own nest eggs.

Observe which hens are the best layers and breed from them.

There is nothing so fruitful of disease as damp, unclean quarters.

Don't be too sure that your birds have no lice; examine them closely.

Bowel trouble in young chicks is often prevented and corrected by the substitution of scalded milk for water.

The heavy setters should have shallow nest boxes and rather flat nests, otherwise there will be many broken eggs.

A good preparation with which to clean eggs that are soiled is vinegar diluted with water. Clean eggs sell better.

It should be the ambition of every poultry raiser, no matter how small his flock, to be the best in the neighborhood.

A dust bath under cover is a necessity at all times, but especially in the spring and summer when lice multiply rapidly.

To get profit out of ducklings they must be sold as soon as large enough which is usually just before the down disappears.

It is about time now to practice the ounce of prevention for mites. Whitewash is good for the house and a dust bath for the hens.

It is a harmful and costly practice to permit little chickens to get wet and cold. Clean, warm, dry conditions are indispensable.

Ducklings should not be allowed water, beyond what is necessary to quench their thirst, until they are reasonably well feathered.

A big basketful of chaff from the barn floor in early in the morning, will set the fowls to work and prepare them to relish their breakfast.

When two hens are hatching at the same time put all the chicks as they hatch under one hen and the unhatched eggs under the other.

It is a mistake to feed sour or tainted food. All food that is not eaten up an hour after feeding should be gathered up and thrown away.

Many experienced poultry raisers are of the opinion that gapes are caused by feeding the chicks on the ground. The safest and best plan is to feed on the boards.

St. Lawrence seed is a good feed to produce bright plumage, if fed judiciously. Every breeder should send to some reliable seedman for some seed and plant it this spring.

"Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is the best remedy for that often fatal disease--croup. It has been used with success in our family for eight years."
